CHANGE OF VENUE

DUE TO A CHANGE IN PLANS BY THE HOTEL WE RESERVED FOR OUR 50TH ANNIVERSARY BANQUET, WE WILL NOW HAVE OUR LUNCHEON AT THE DOUBLETREE HILTON PITTSBURGH
500 Mansfield Avenue, Pittsburgh (Green Tree) –
RIGHT "NEXT DOOR" TO THE HOTEL WE ORIGINALLY RESERVED.
Directions are on the reservation form on page 8.
We'll see YOU there on Sunday, October 20, 2019.

PP BACKS OFF $60 MILLION

Even the notably liberal 9th Circuit Court of Appeals refused to grant an injunction against the rule excluding from federal "family planning" funds any grantee which commits or refers for abortion, so Planned Parenthood, never wishing to lose its "cash cow" of abortion, will no longer receive the $60 million it has been drawing from Title X (ten).

What the media outlets do not mention is that PP receives about $500,000,000.00 – THAT'S HALF A BILLION from THE AMERICAN TAXPAYER. That's YOU!

We know 2020 will be critical for the welfare of preborn babies in America. NOW is the time to speak out with courage, action and prayer. Your participation in the pro-life movement will decide if babies live or die. Now—more than ever—WE NEED YOU TO (1) plan a voter registration campaign in your neighborhood or church and offer absentee ballot applications for people who won't get to the polls, (2) Put up a sign for a pro-life candidate (3) Offer to drive neighbors to local polling places (4) Vote early and often (smile)

COME AND BRING A STUDENT

Come to our Banquet Luncheon on Oct. 20, and bring a student from middle school through med school. They are the voice, the action, the leaders in our new culture of LIFE. Kristen Hawkins has a strong, lively message. Veteran pro-lifers need to hear it and so do the students who will be the voice of America in the years to come.

Talk to the youth leaders in your church. Offer to bring one, two or several students. Let us do all we can to change our culture with the help of the men and women of tomorrow.

See Reservation form on page 8.

CALL PCUC FOR LIFE CHAIN SIGNS

Spend one hour on a sidewalk or near a highway in your neighborhood. Your sign will tell the traffic going by that you stand on the side of life for babies and protection for mothers. The back of your sign will keep you at prayer so you won't be tempted to interact with any negativity from drivers. Find your spot from list on page 5.

SANDOVAL AT ST. PAUL

St. Paul of the Cross Parish Respect Life Team is proud to welcome Patricia Sandoval, our October speaker at the St. Anne campus on Monday, October 28 at 7 pm. Author of the book, "Transfigured," she tells her story of abortion, drug addiction and homelessness and how Jesus turned her life around through Rachel's Vineyard. This is a story of hope, mercy and love, and it is especially important for teens to hear her courageous witness. Please join us for this powerful testimony to God's faithfulness and grace. There is no fee, but Good Will donations gratefully accepted. Please email Kathy at moozie51@gmail.com with any questions

SEALS AND CROFTS "UNBORN BABY"

They were at the height of popularity in the early 1970s. Iconic hits as "Summer Breeze" and "Diamond Girl" marked them as winners for many more years.

All that changed in 1974 with release of their album "Unborn Baby." The title track is a song written after Lana Day Bogan wrote the poem after she saw a documentary on abortion. The song begins:

Oh little baby, you'll never cry, nor will you hear a sweet lullabye. Oh unborn child, if you only knew just what your momma was plannin' to do.

You're still a-clingin' to the tree of life, but soon you'll be cut off before you get ripe.

Oh unborn child, beginning to grow inside your momma, but you'll never know.

Oh tiny bud, that grows in the womb, only to be crushed before you can bloom.

Momma stop! Turn around, go back, think it over.

Now stop, turn around, go back, think it over.

Stop, turn around, go back, think it over.

The simple and evocative message is that the preborn baby is fully human and deserving of life. Of course it was career damaging. This is not what their label, Warner Records, had in mind. After all, this was less than a year since Roe had been handed down. Warner Brothers said NO to release of the album. And Seals and Crofts said, "You're in the business to make money. We're doing this to save lives. We don't care about the money. After release of the album, radio stations boycotted the title track. The duo went on to release other songs, but their celebrity was never what it had been previously.

The experience of Seals & Crofts shows the extreme bias in favor of abortion in the music and entertainment industry. That was only 1974. Now the entertainment industry's ties to the abortion industry are even stronger.

As for Seals and Crofts, they had no regrets. Dash Crofts said, "I think we got more good results out of it than bad because a lot of people called us and said, 'We're naming our children after you because you helped us decide to save our baby with that song.'"

AMERICAN LEGION DEBATES ABORTION

Not your usual topic for this American group.

In the June 2019 issue of The American Legion, an article in the Big Issues section contrasted the views of Rep. Dan Lipinski, D-Ill., and Rep. Eric Swalwell, D-Calif. The article was titled "Permanent abortion funding ban" and presented the opposing views on the issue of using taxpayer dollars to fund abortion. Rep. Lipinski presented his support of the Hyde Amendment and of the No Taxpayer Funding for Abortion Act, while Rep. Swalwell outlined his support of the Equal Access to Abortion Coverage in Health Insurance Act, which reimburses government insurance providers for reproductive services like abortion. Call PCUC for a copy of the article

SOME INTERESTING BUT VERY GOOD NEWS

From Jack Hartman

From the June 02, 2019 newsletter from the PA PL8S web site. This is the website for those of us who have the odd hobby of trying to locate and/or photograph unusual PA license plates, especially special organization plates, like the Choose Life plate.

Did you know Planned Parenthood has a PA plate? As of June 02, the PP of PA plate, according to a reliable source (vanity check), has only been issued to 27 cars since 2007.

In stark contrast, the PA Choose Life plate has now been issued to 1,400+ vehicles in PA. To pay extra fees to acquire a PA Choose Life plate says a lot about the devotion of pro-life supporters in PA. The lack of enthusiasm to acquire a Planned Parenthood plate gives a different message about "pro-choice" supporters and abortion providers.

Former abortion clinic workers tell their stories
(in first person)

It was Angie's story that stuck with me most. She was, as the clinic workers called her, a 'frequent flyer.' Tall, handsome, in her mid-thirties, we rarely saw her without a smile that matched her sharp wit. When Angie arrived for her ninth procedure, staff members shook their heads and said, "Really? Seriously?" Angie never showed even a slight sign of regret or even good old-fashioned shame.

Even during the inevitable pain and cramping, Angie bantered the doctor, "Be careful down there, Doc. I might want to have children some day."

Then one day, Angie grabbed my hand. "Hey, do you mind if I see it...I might as well know what it looks like." Reluctantly, I located her 13 week fetus and put it in a dish. Her eyes travelled to the container, and for the first time since she arrived, she was utterly silent. Later, her body shuddered and gooseflesh was raised on her smooth arms. When she reached out to touch the baby, I tried to pull the dish away. She stopped me. We were both silent. As she stared at the dish, I stepped back and Angie fell forward to her knees, her fingers wrapped around my wrist.

Angie remained frozen on the clinic floor, "That's a baby," she said. "That was my baby." Her volume increased as a torrent of words fell from her mouth, words that made everyone extremely uncomfortable. "What did I do? What did I do?" Her words affected everyone in the recovery room.

We dragged her to the bathroom. Angie flailed her arms and her screams reached fever pitch. When we went to get her, she begged, "Please, can I take my baby with me?"

When I told her she could not take her dead baby home with her, she continued to beg. She stayed in the bathroom. Finally we called her emergency contact, her current boyfriend. After 45 minutes with her in the bathroom, he coaxed her out. He had his arm around her shoulder. He was crying. We never saw them again."

The stories are written as though all are the experience of one abortion clinic worker. It is not a pleasant read, but it shows how deeply the culture of death is imbedded in the lives of abortion workers. They are to be pitied, not hated.

You can borrow the book from the PCUC office. It is available from Ignatius Press. There are 17 stories in the book.

MAGEE PROJECT

During our 40 Days for Life vigil, we may not be going to Magee Hospital to pray, but we must never stop thanking God for the progress made on this project. We can pray anywhere, anytime, and the plea to God that Magee would end its abortion business should stay in our minds, in our hearts and on our lips.

CLERGY GROUP PRAYS FOR ABORTION MILL

Earlier this summer, a group of clergy gathered at the Whole Woman's Health abortion mill in North Austin, TX, to "bless" its life-destroying work, according to the Texas Observer.

About 20 Christian and Jewish leaders who gathered for the event sang, "Hallelujah. Do not fear. You are loved. Bless this room. Bless this womb," in the waiting room of the abortion facility. Others insisted that religious people can support abortion.

"As a matter of faith, women have been given free will with regard to their bodies," said Rabbi Alan Freeman of Temple Beth Shalom.

"Let's be clear, there is nothing in the Christian scripture that condemns abortion—it just ain't in there," added Rev. Amelia Fulbright, from the Labyrinth Progressive Student Ministry.

The article giving OK to abortion is one example of many we've seen. Pro-lifers are aware that TRUE religion rejects violence and raises up the most vulnerable. It defends the defenseless and offers compassion to the suffering. This is what pro-life advocates, secular and religious, do every day for mothers and babies across the world. Let us all offer families true blessings by reassuring them that every life is valuable.

DOCTOR TRICKS PRO-LIFE NURSE

Among more than 1000 complaints at the US HHS Civil Rights Office was one from a Catholic nurse working at the U. of Vermont Medical Center. She claims her employer forced her to take part in an abortion, even though she had told the hospital of her pro-life beliefs.

The nurse was told she was scheduled to help a woman who had suffered a miscarriage, but when she walked into the operating room, she was told to assist with an elective abortion. The doctor in charge allegedly said to her, "Don't hate me."

This is a university medical center that didn't even practice elective abortions until a new rule instated in 2017 changed that and gave management the power to punish staffers who refuse to participate.

What this nurse experienced was a violation of federal law. HHS is now under new management.

DAY TO REMEMBER ABORTED CHILDREN

On Saturday, September 14, we will gather at St. Paul Cathedral at 1:00 pm to co-sponsor the 7th Annual National Day of Remembrance for Aborted Children, calling on pro-life Americans to gather at the gravesites of our aborted brothers and sisters. There are 52 gravesites across the U.S., as well as dozens of sites dedicated to the memory of aborted children. You can get information at www.AbortionMemorials.com.

ABBY JOHNSON STORY MAKES A SPLASH

The movie dramatizing the escape of Abby Johnson from her Planned Parenthood management post and from the abortion industry hit number-one in Amazon sales on its first day of DVD sales in mid-August. PCUC has copies for sale.

Before the DVD release, Unplanned already reportedly grossed more than $18 million during 19 weeks on U.S. cinema screens. The film is now being shown at cinemas in Latin America, Canada, the United Kingdom, the Philippines, and Pakistan.

Unplanned's co-director Cary Solomon, "credited a mystical experience for the success of the film. She said that when the producers of the film were initially 'very worried, very scared' about making the film. We had a Holy Spirit moment: The Spirit dropped on us and basically said, 'Do not be afraid. This is for my glory.'"

NC COUNTY FIRST SANCTUARY FOR PRE-BORN

Yadkin County, NC, Board of Commissioners have adopted a resolution declaring their exurban county—west of Winston-Salem—"the first official sanctuary county for pre-born children in America."

The two main objectives of the resolution are to establish "as the official policy of the county, the scientific fact that life begins at conception or fertilization," and to commit the county "to enforce this policy... in accordance with its responsibilities as the people's elected local representatives."

Follow up activities include placing a plaque... as a reminder of the commitment made by the people. There are also plans for public meetings to work with churches and local organizations to find ways to provide support for mothers and fathers of pre-born children so that the county can become a place that truly welcomes and protects the gift of life.

LIFE CHAINS FOR SOUTHWESTERN PA –
MOST WILL BE OCTOBER 6 – See notes for changes.

As you are planning for your Life Chain, besure to contact local police to tell them where your Chain will be and when it is scheduled to begin and end. This is a courtesy call. You have every right to be on the sidewalk with your demonstration, and you do not need a permit. It's OK for those who need chairs to use them, as long as they do not block traffic.

We are part of a national event. We are on the sidewalk to pray. We can smile or return a wave from passers-by, but we do not engage in arguments, and we do not return unkind gestures or words. Thank you to everyone who participates. Congratulations to friends in Ellwood City on your post-Life-Chain Spaghetti Dinner. God bless everyone who makes this special effort. Send photos to H. Cindrich if you have them.
